ProScan Pipeline System Product Spotlight featuring ProScan Max® III

The ProScan Pipeline System (featuring the ProScan Max® III) metal detector is ideal for ice cream, soft cheese and ground meat applications. Advanced Detection Systems' focus on today's stringent food safety regulations is reflected in several standard features including: administrator assigned user names and log-in levels allowing users to abide by identity requirements, data logger access through a downloadable thumb drive, running list of recent detection history visible from the menu and flexible automatic reject timing to ensure a reliable detect and reject process.

Food processors are encouraged to use Advanced Detection Systems' free product testing service. All product testing results are accompanied by Advanced Detection Systems' Sensitivity Guarantee.
